		they don't want to affect by this. This is unaccountable
129	Has the government talked to your family in Sudan about you	Yes they asked about me when I left in 2004. Even now when they returned, they asked where is your father? how come he didn't come back?
130	Anything else	No
131	Your other family members, have they asked about them about you	It was just normal questioning and that they said they wanted me back and reconcile with me. my brother said that he came. He trusted you. you caught him. I don't think he's going to come back
132	When you were in Saudi Arabia did you participate in any activities against Sudanese government	No
133	Why not	I was basically a right seeker. I was seeking my rights. I wasn't looking for any titles. I was seeking my rights. We used to get like together in houses. Using the farmer's alliance from aljeezera. We tell them their rights and the government's intent to take them away. We raise fund in order to support their causes.
134	This is in Saudi Arabia	Yes. we send them good seeds to harvest
135	Have you been participating in any such activities here in USA	No
136	In USA, have you been participating in any activities against Sudanese government	No
137	Why not	There was no protest
138	Have you participated in any political activities in USA	No

April 8, 2014 Judge Burman asked three times if the Embassy received the letter of criticism from the applicant. He also asked, "Why were photos taken in front of the Embassy?"

May 14, 2015: Judge Williams wrote, at page 20, that the applicant's risk of torture "likely increased since his arrival in the United States, due to his regular attendance at meetings of the Cameroon Democratic Union and CODE USA, and his participation in political demonstrations against the government of Cameroon in Washington DC."
